Information on fit

For technical reasons, there are slight differences in fit at the transitions of the warning bars over vehicle edges and beads. This is hardly noticeable at a normal viewing distance of 5 m or more, therefore does not impair the warning effect and does not constitute grounds for complaint. The starting point of the strip pattern may differ slightly from the illustrations. However, this has no relevance for approval and/or safety.

We expressly reserve the right to make changes in the interest of technical progress, which may be made without prior notice.
